arrived to read the morning sh'ma. said, Verily I am like a man of seventy years of age, yet I was not able to prove that the narration of the departure from Egypt should be made at night, until the son of Zoma proved it from the following words of scripture:
"That thou mayest remember the day of thy going forth from Egypt, all the days of thy life." "The days of thy life," said he, refer to the days alone, but "all the days of thy life" include the nights also. The doctors however, וְהַיָּמִים אֵל הַיָּנוּ אֶתְכֶם say thus: "The days of thy life," refer to this world only, but "all the days of thy life," include the time of the Messiah.

A puzzling
passage

...so that you may remember all the days of your life the day when you came out of the land of Egypt. (Deuteronomy 16:3, NASB)

The image features a background of a weathered stone wall, likely made of limestone or similar material, with a central rectangular opening. The wall is composed of large, roughly-hewn rectangular blocks. The text is centered over the wall in a bold, black, serif font.

Find the cry for Messiah already in the Siddur

The background of the slide features a grayscale image of musical notation on a staff. The notation is slightly out of focus, with a prominent treble clef and a sharp sign visible in the lower-left corner. The staff lines and notes are dark against a lighter background, creating a subtle, artistic texture.

What is the Siddur?

- Guide to Jewish life
- Source of theology
- Contextualizes Experiences
- Megastructure
